HONGKONG, MAY 16TH, 1906.

ALLOWING for some of the exaggeration which seems a necessary concomitant of all earnestness, there was a certain reasonableness in the article by "GEORGE ECKERTON" published in Saturday's issue of this journal. The "poor we have always with us"—the professional poor, perhaps we may say, to distinguish the pet objects of sentiment and pity from that mute, inglorious army of "middle-class serfs" who suffer worse pangs than the submerged tenth, as a consequence of that "decent pride" which others call a "shoddy ideal." These "hardest and worst paid workers of the country," who march under no clamorous banners, who enjoy no eight hours' day, are, we read, the miserable buffer between the classes and the masses. They pay an unjust proportion of the taxation that provides the working man of the hour—handed variety with cheap dwellings, cheap transit, free education, free baths, free libraries, free asylums; and it is they who will most feel the pinch of paying for the half-promised free boots, free meals, and pensions. As the writer told us, "None of these benefits the middle-class man, with the exception, perhaps, of the free libraries. To send his children to the Council school would be to neglect the efforts of years of self-education and to lower his children in the social scale; to endow them with an accent and tone which would handicap them in most of the professions; to give them a premature knowledge of evil words and facts; to force them to mix with the offspring of every congenial criminal who begins his kind whenever he gets a spell out of prison, of every lunatic who is cast out of the asylum during temporary lucid intervals, of the wretch of the feeble-minded, and the degenerate. No, he stunts a bit more, gives up his cheap wine, his cigar, and pays for the private education of his children, and an unfair title to the education of those of the working-man who could better afford to contribute himself."

Those of us who can afford to put into practice the theories of "Sartor Resartus," and kindred ideas of emancipation from convention—and it is a bold and often costly thing to do—are able to see the shoddiness of the middle-class ideal, which, however, "GEORGE ECKERTON" tells us is "at least an ideal whose attainment calls for thrift, self-denial, and personal respect; and, when all is said and done, this shoddy ideal is the keystone of England's greatness, the solid foundation of her Imperial Dominion." It is, moreover, an ideal which prevents the victim from crying out and drawing public attention to his troubles.

The article came rather appropriately for Hongkong, just when we were hearing about the poor coolie's grievance with regard to high rents. It is a question whether the house rents in this Colony do not hit others harder, those who are much higher in the social scale than the coolie, and who yet are not so in respect of proportionate salary. Where the coolie pays twenty-five per cent. of his wage as rent for his cubicle, the "middle-class serf" to adopt "GEORGE ECKERTON's" term, pays fifty per cent. or more for his flat or suite. He cannot send his wife and children into the country to live healthily and cheaply. He cannot ride in the workmen's trams, even when he is prepared to sacrifice dignity for solvency. Part of his "shoddy ideal," we suppose, is more of a stern necessity. He must maintain a certain standard of respectability of appearance, if he does not wish to risk his means of livelihood. We heard some time ago the wail of the "Griffin," who complained that the cost of living was now out of proportion with wages. These luxurious young gentlemen might begin to think of the Far Eastern remedy for trouble, the suicide's way, if they had to experience half the privations of the honest fellow who keeps a roof over wife and wench, pays his own doctor's bills, and fights the demon debt with the same energy that earns him all his employer can afford to pay these hard times. When we endeavour to think of his supposed circumstances in detail, we wonder that any can be found to weep over the grinning coolie, who indulges in riotous orgies with every extra windfall of ten cents, and would presumably be quite happy if the Sanitary Board people would only refrain from bothering him with what he regards as irrelevant details. To the academic observer, he seems a far happier individual than the BOB CRATCHITS whose troubles we have been guessing at. But, as we have said before, Mr. CRATCHIT would probably be the first to resent pity. If as little were heard of the woes of the poor landlord (who also has his troubles) and of the poor coolie (who does not wear them on his sleeve) the Levite need not be put to the trouble of crossing the road.

The plague total is now 437, eighteen cases having been added yesterday. Twelve were fatal cases. Three were found out of doors.

Messrs. W. A. FITZGERALD & Co's monthly Manila market report dated April 28th says the share market continues dull and lifeless, with money tight.

So far as we can understand the peculiar style of a Cablenews narrative, the Philippines Government has declared cockfighting permissible.

We are glad to hear that the capital of the Kiangpei Concessions, Ltd., has been fully subscribed, and the directors went to allotment on May 10th.

The shareholders of the Shanghai Land Investment Co., Ltd., who met on May 10th, confirmed the resolution increasing the capital and reducing the quorum.

Chao Erhsen, Tartar-General of Fengting, has wired to the Waiwupa to refuse the four conditions on which Japan will restore Yingkow to China, as these conditions interfere with the sovereign rights of China.

The Nanfangpao states that the Chinese Government wishes to take steps at once to build a railway from Tientsin to Harbin and thus forestall any possible aggressive design on the part of the Russians who have been surveying the route.

It is reported by the Nanfangpao that Viceroy Chou Fu has recently memorialised the Throne with reference to the opening of Tungchow to the commerce of all the Treaty Powers, stating that in July, 1898, the late Viceroy Liu Kun-yi was instructed by the Peking Government to open Tungchow to foreign trade on the same conditions as Chinwangtao and other self-opened ports in the provinces, but owing to the difficulty of raising funds for meeting the opening expenses, the matter was temporarily shelved.

A St. Petersburg telegram to the Mainichi states that Russia will pay Japan 150,000,000 roubles for the maintenance of Russian prisoners in Japan.

The Nanfangpao states that Mr. Pokotloff has notified the Waiwupa that the Russian Government has dispatched an official to mark out and survey the Pamir frontiers and request the Chinese Government to send deputies to co-operate in the demarcation. The Waiwupa has given the necessary instructions.

A contemporary says that an English gentleman named R. E. Young, who attempted to reach the summit of Fuji on April 25th, had to descend owing to ice and the extreme cold. The patches of ice which linger on this always easy climb make it still less tedious, and are rather welcomed by Alpinists. The phrase "had to descend" cannot have been warranted from a mountaineering point of view.

We are requested by the Revd. Father Augustine to state for the information of all the Roman Catholics, whether civil, military, or naval, attending the Sunday services at the St. Joseph's Church in Garden Road, that, in response to the wish of many of the worshippers the hour of the services has been altered to 10 a.m. every Sunday, instead of 9 a.m. as heretofore. The change will take effect from Sunday next, 20th instant.

The following two telegrams are from the Cablenews. The first seems to have been ordered in some way from the second: "Berlin, May 10th.—An attempt has been made to assassinate the Kaiser. The dastardly effort failed entirely. Tremendous excitement was created and Berlin is now an armed camp. Congratulations on his escape are pouring in from all over the world to the Emperor. Another cable received here says: London, May 10.—What is believed to have been a well prepared plot to assassinate Emperor William of Germany has just been nipped in the bud by the arrest of five anarchists at Urville in the Province of Lorraine. In the house in which the anarchists were seized was found a large quantity of bombs and other explosives. The Kaiser had not yet arrived in Urville, but was expected there to-day."

The Everest Renan, the largest armoured cruiser ever constructed in France, was launched on April 9th, at Saint-Nazaire. She is one of five vessels of this class provided for in the 1900 shipbuilding programme. These five, together with six battleships, were to have been completed before Dec. 31, 1905, but not one was ready for service at that date. The delay in connection with the Everest Renan is largely due to the plans having been overhauled and radically altered at the last moment. To attain a speed of 23 knots instead of 22, the tonnage had to be increased from 12,550 to 13,644, and four out of the 16 164-millimetre guns done away with. The cost of the vessel, originally estimated at £28,020,000, will be £32,990,000. She will probably be ready for her trials in June, 1907.

Mr. Hanbury-Williams, the editor of the Monthly Review, is to be heartily congratulated on his enterprise and good fortune in securing an exceptionally excellent number for April. We have rarely seen in a single issue so many articles of high merit. We recently referred at length to the contribution on the blood-relationship of man and the ape. "The Moral Crisis," and "The Essential Factor of Progress," are two thoughtful articles which we would not willingly have missed; while Flora Annie Steel's sensational article on "Marriage in the East and in the West" amazed us. We never expected to find a woman championing a view that some men have hitherto dared only to whisper. Except Norman Gale's poem, all the other contributions are eclipsed by the numbers cited.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

A meeting of the Legislative Council is called for Thursday. The Hon. Mr. H. E. Pollock will move "that it is desirable that legislation for the registration of partners with limited liability should be introduced into this Colony." The same gentleman has also three questions set down in his name, the first for Mr. Gershom Stewart, asking if the experiments in wood-paving have proved sufficiently satisfactory to warrant an extension of this method of road-making being taken into consideration; the second asking why a notification as to death rates was not promptly attended to by the Sanitary authorities; and the third asking if the Government will consider the advisability of granting to those civil servants who are drawing their pay on a sterling basis the privilege of drawing half of their pay at the rate of 1s. 8d. to the dollar, or will the Government grant some other relief by way of compensation to such Civil Servants.

The orders of the day are:—First reading of a bill entitled an Ordinance to amend the Law relating to the Property of Married Women. First reading of a bill entitled an Ordinance to regulate the qualifications and to provide for the Registration of Dentists. Second reading of the bill entitled an Ordinance to amend the Summary Offences (Amendment) Ordinance, 1905. Second reading of the bill entitled an Ordinance to amend the Magistrate's Ordinance, 1890. Second reading of the bill entitled an Ordinance to provide for the establishment of Lunatic Asylums and to provide for the custody and care therein of persons of unsound mind. Second reading of the bill entitled an Ordinance relating to the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court with respect to the care and commitment of the custody of the persons and estates of Lunatics.

THE STUFF THAT "CONVERTS" ARE MADE OF.
A letter from Nanchang, the scene of the last massacre, signed "Gertrude Howo," concludes as follows in a contemporary:—"And after all was over, certain parties, suspected of participation, applied to join the Church. This idea of the function of the church being to protect from the consequences of their misdeeds, does surely indicate spiritual darkness on the part of the people, and may be said to suggest dimness of intellect vision on the part of the missionaries in dealing with the Chinese. With all the dove-like harmlessness of this class had they never come forth in serpent-like sagacity, how could such an idea of the Church prevail so extensively in China?"

ARMED DRUNKENNESS.

To be drunk while carrying lethal weapons should be treated as a most serious offence. There have been recent cases of drunken foreigners flourishing revolvers; and now we read of a shocking affair with a sailor's sheath knife. On May 11th, about eleven o'clock p.m., a Japanese sailor, riding on one of the men-of-war boats, was riding in a high along the Boone Road when, owing to the road being up for the laying of a water main, the coolie stopped, as he could not go any further. The sailor, who was drunk, got out of the vehicle, and on being asked by the coolie for his fare, pulled out a sheath knife and stabbed the coolie. The coolie, who was on duty near by, to his assistance. The Japanese immediately turned his attention to the policeman, attacking him with the formidable knife. The policeman was quickly rendered hors-de-combat, his assailant cutting him severely down the shoulder and nearly severing the left hand from the forearm. The policeman was in a pitiable condition and the force used by the Japanese must have been considerable. The noise made by the injured man summoned a large crowd of angry Chinese, who seized the Japanese and, but for his timely arrest by reinforcements of police he would have been rather summarily dealt with by the indignant natives. The injured man was conveyed to St. Luke's Hospital. His condition was serious, and even if there should be no complication perhaps a month will elapse before he will be out again.

POLICE COURT.

Tuesday, May 15th.

BEFORE MR. P. A. HAZELAND (FIRST POLICE MAGISTRATE).

TAKING ADVANTAGE OF HIS POSITION.

A Sanitary Board coolie was prosecuted by Inspector D. J. Mackenzie for being in unlawful possession of one tiger claw mounted with gold, one gold ear drop, and one piece of gold, reasonably expected to have been stolen. It was stated that defendant was engaged in removing plague cases, and suspicion fell on him when it was discovered that a bangle was missing from the body of one of the victims. His Worship said there was no doubt that defendant robbed the dead bodies, and he would have to pay a fine of $75 or go to prison for three months.

EXCITING SCENES AT DEEP WATER BAY.

When three coolies were sentenced to one month's imprisonment each for being in illegal possession of opium, a sensational story was told relative to their capture. It appeared that on Monday evening a party of excise officers, accompanied by a European constable, went to make a raid at Deep Water Bay Brick Works. They effected the arrest of the fokei who on being led out of the works shouted to the coolies—"Kill these men. I am arrested." Immediately the coolies came to his assistance, and attacked the officers. A determined struggle ensued, in which sticks and bamboo were freely used. After the fight had been in progress for some time an Indian constable was beaten down, and the officers retreated "horrorwards." In the interval the European officer had fired his revolver, and this being taken as a signal for assistance reinforcements arrived from the police station and the three men were arrested.

THEFT BY AN OFFICIAN.

E. C. Elliott, optician, was brought up on remand, charged with stealing a pair of eyeglasses, the property of Mr. Lazarus, Polder's Street, during April.

A European witness spoke to meeting defendant at the Seamen's Institute last month, and when witness referred to his eyewitness defendant invited him to his room, where he produced several pairs of glasses. A certain pair united his eyesight and defendant presented him with them.

His Worship—Did you ask him if they were his glasses. I suppose you know he was working for Lazarus?

Witness—He told me they were his property. I did not know until later that they did not belong to him.

His Worship—Did it not occur to you that it was strange that he should have a dozen pairs of glasses?

Witness—No. I thought it quite feasible that he should have them, being in the trade. Defendant told the Court that he gave the glasses to witness as he could not afford to pay for them.

Mr. Tuxford, manager of N. Lazarus, optician, said that defendant, who was stationed here, was taken into the firm's employment on probation, but left on the 24th April without giving notice. This roused his suspicions, especially when he heard that defendant was doing optician work in Macao. He would not swear that the glasses belonged to the firm, though he ventured to think no other firm in the Colony sold similar glasses.

Defendant—Do you remember "calling me down" for selling a pair of glasses for two dollars which you said ought to have been sold for five dollars?

Witness—I remember the incident. When I returned from Uffin one day he told him he had sold a pair of eyeglasses for two dollars.

Defendant—I paid the two dollars for these myself and gave them to that young man.

His Worship—That is a different story. After other questions had been put by defendant, his Worship passed sentence of three weeks' imprisonment.

BEFORE MR. C. D. MELBOURNE (SECOND POLICE MAGISTRATE).

AN UNFORTUNATE PASSENGER.

A Russian engineer, who was a passenger on board the French mail steamer Saladie, was charged with being drunk and incapable in the street the previous night. He stated that he lost his ship though coming ashore, and that in consequence he now found himself without money and clothing. He wanted to see his Consul in order to telegraph to the Captain of the Saladie to discharge his personal effects at Shanghai, whether he was bound. His Worship bound him over in $25 to keep the peace for six months.

HEAVY PENALTIES.

A man and a woman were convicted of being in unlawful possession of 9 cwt of sugar which was found by the water police in their sampan. The man was fined $100 or three months' imprisonment and the woman $75 or 14 days.

HOME AND CHINA AFFAIRS.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

London, April 13th.

A REVIVED INTEREST.

Never during a period of quiescence has China received so much attention from the British public and the British Press as at the present time. This is a promising symptom, which those who are interested in Chinese trade and Chinese affairs welcome as an earnest of profounder knowledge, the basis of sounder judgment and the forerunner of a wiser and more continuous policy towards the great Chinese Empire by the British Foreign Office. If only the average member of the House of Commons would assimilate a tenth part of the information about China in the public prints, there might even be hope for those who prize and preach the "solidarity of mankind" but do nothing substantial to bring about an international rapprochement. A considerable amount of the present interest in China is attributable to the presence in this country and in Europe of the Special Commissioners sent from Peking to investigate foreign systems. The year of reform is evidently at work, and if the authorities in China display a corresponding energy to that shown by the Commissioners since their arrival in England, you who are near the scene of affairs may yet see in your day and generation the first pronounced step forward on the path of national administrative reform in China. It was belittling that the China Association, as representing all that is best and influential in the commercial intercourse of Great Britain and China, should take the opportunity of entertaining the Chinese Commissioners. The banquet given in the Café Royal on Tuesday night, taken in conjunction with several other functions of a like nature—and following upon the attention bestowed on the Commissioners by the Foreign Office officials and all with whom they have been brought in contact—cannot fail to impress these high mandarins with the desire that exists in this country to see China a strong and independent country, strong because of the cleanliness of her Government and public departments, because of the natural expansion of her commerce and potential resources, and because of the patriotism of her people. These are essentials to a nation that would be strong.

"T. J." IN GOOD FORM.

It struck me that Mr. Gundry, to whom the China Association is indebted so much, scarcely did himself justice in his speech, and the speeches of the evening were those of Sir Thomas Jackson and Duke Tai Tsai. Sir Thomas never spoke with greater fluency, and his speech was excellent because of its obvious sincerity. As one listened to his address, it was impossible to restrain a feeling of regret that personal considerations must deprive the Chinese of Sir Thomas's presence in their capital to help them to carry his suggestions into practice. The surprise of the evening was the unexpected vein of humour revealed by Duke Tsai. The laughter that greeted his sallies was spontaneous and unreserved. The shrewdness of the Chinaman was not lacking. When I have told people in this country that the Chinese are a shrewd and practical people, they have either blinked with ill-concealed scepticism or asked me how it was that a practical people had so many impractical features in their system of government and social life. But you know, and your readers know, how wide awake the Chinaman is to the argument of the dollar, and if it can only be borne in upon the high officials throughout the country that their financial interests and the interests of the country itself are bound up in the commercial development of the country, then it is reasonable to expect such reforms in administration as will place it on the same level for honesty and enterprise with the individual Chinese trader, whose uprightness is a never-failing topic of praise for those who have had dealings with them. The railways that pay twelve per cent. are the railways that Duke Tsai wants to see in China. There is no reason why the Chinese railways should not pay an even higher rate of interest; but it cannot be done unless those underlying qualities that have distinguished the English race at home and abroad are also the basis of all Chinese enterprises. This was not enforced upon Duke Tsai at Tuesday's banquet, but let us hope the opportunity was not lost during the remainder of the Commissioners' stay in our midst.

PARLIAMENT.

The absence from the House of Mr. Balfour and Mr. Chamberlain during the past week has revealed the deplorable weakness of the Unionist Opposition's debating power. Mr. F. E. Smith, the Liverpool barrister whose maiden speech made such a favourable impression, promises well, and of the others none is making himself more prominent than Sir Gilbert Parker. If it be true that the member for Gravesend has decided to abandon literature for a political career, he is certainly sitting about his new line of life in a wholehearted manner. He is constantly catching the Speaker's eye. In particular, he appears to have set himself the task of criticising Mr. Winston Churchill. Sir Gilbert speaks with a perceptible Canadian accent. He is fluent, more so than most writers, impresses one with his earnestness, uses good language and if it were not for a slight raspiness in his vocalisation would be a pleasant speaker to listen to. Of the other literary men in the House, none is more delightful to me than Mr. Milner Balfour. He is young and would go far. He features in a most charming fashion on non-political subjects, and though a Liberal in politics writes with equal charm and classic grace for the Conservative Morning Post. He has served in the French army, knows better than most amateurs how to handle a sailing boat, and has travelled extensively.

HONGKONG SANITARY BOARD.

A meeting of the Sanitary Board was held on May 15th at the Board Room. The Hon. Dr. F. Clark (president) presided, and there were also present—Hon. Dr. Pearce, M.O.H., Hon. Mr. A. W. Brown, Dr. Macfarlane, Mr. E. C. Badesley, Lieut.-Col. Sparks, Mr. A. Shelton Hooper, Mr. H. Humphreys, Mr. Lau Chai-pak, Mr. Fung Wai-chun and Mr. G. A. Woodcock (secretary).

MARKET ACCOMMODATION AT QUARRY BAY.
With reference to the Board's recommendation that a market be erected at Quarry Bay, H.E. the Governor intimated that he was inclined to think the erection of this market was justified by the considerable and growing population in the neighbourhood.

The Hon. Director of Public Works in a minute said a scheme for laying out the neighbourhood east of Messrs. Butterfield and Swire's wharves was being prepared, and the provision of a market would be considered in connection with it. He thought it would be advisable to ask the Sanitary Board to specify what accommodation should be provided.

The M.O.H. said he had consulted with the Hon. Registrar General on the matter, and they thought a market large enough to allow for a considerable increase of population at Quarry Bay should be provided.

On the motion of the President, seconded by Hon. Mr. A. W. Brown, it was agreed to recommend that the market be erected.

SANITARY INSPECTION OF CROWN LANDS AND GOVERNMENT BUILDINGS.

The Secretary of the Board, in a letter to the Colonial Secretary, reported the resolution carried at a board meeting with regard to this matter. Continuing, he wrote—"I presume in the event of His Excellency's approval being obtained, it will only be necessary to issue a general order to the effect that the officers of the Sanitary Department are authorized to enter and inspect Government buildings and outbuildings for the purpose of ascertaining the sanitary condition, cleanliness and good order thereof. The issue of such a general order would appear to be necessary, as although there is nothing contrary to such a procedure in the Public Health and Building Ordinance, it has not been customary hitherto for officers of the Sanitary Department to enter and inspect Government buildings and outbuildings. Section 4 of the above quoted Ordinance is the only section dealing with this matter." For further information, he attached a copy of the Daily Press report of the proceedings at which the resolution was carried.

The Colonial Secretary forwarded a copy of the resolution to the Attorney General, asking if there was any provision in Ordinance 1 of 1903 which would prevent the resolution being put into effect.

The Attorney General replied—"I think not. Indeed, I am inclined to think that Section 23 applies to Government property. You will observe that Section 4 exempts Government property from the provisions of the Ordinance, but only in so far as such provisions relate to 'works, the construction of buildings, and the carrying out of works.' It would seem to follow that of the provisions of the Ordinance as relating to sanitation apply to all buildings without exception.

H. E. the Governor agreed that the resolution should be accepted, and that the P.C.M.O. be authorized to issue the orders he suggested.

The President's orders were that Inspectors be instructed to inspect all Government buildings in their districts once a week for nuisances.

The President said that instructions would be issued to the effect that no Government institutions should be inspected by the Board's officers.

Mr. Hooper—Was there not any minute against that?

The President—I see none.

IMPROVED DISTRICTS.
Correspondence was submitted in which the P.C.M.O. recommended the provision of an improved district as a condition precedent to the granting of a license for Chinese restaurants and eating houses.

The Hon. Registrar General intimated: I do not think the Board approval of eating houses being required to have improved districts. Anyone who wishes to put a bench in a window and sell lemonade or tea has to take out an eating house license, and I am sure from the course of the debate numbers would not have approved of such people being required to buy these expensive districts.

The President—The Board agreed that arrangements should be made departmentally for requiring the provision of improved districts for eating houses. There is no question of expense involved, as it was pointed out at the meeting that an empty, useless tin would comply with this condition.

The Council approved that this further condition should be endorsed on Chinese eating house and restaurant licenses.

THE CENSUS.
The President said—Members of the Board will see that it has been arranged to take a census on June 30th of this year. His Excellency is of opinion that in view of the number of cases of plague occurring at present this would be an unwise time to take the census. The census has usually been taken hitherto in the early part of the year, but it could not be arranged this year owing to the earlier occurrence of China new year. I would suggest that the Board recommend the postponement of the taking of the census until November.

A motion that the Board recommend the Government to postpone the census to November was carried.

PLAQUE IN INDIA.
The Secretary to the Government of India forwarded a statement of the reported plague sores and deaths in India during the week ending April 7th. The number of cases occurring in Bombay city, from the 1st to 15th April was 1,954, of which 1,736 were fatal.

Mr. Hooper intimated The percentage of deaths from plague relative to the number of cases seems much less than in Hongkong.

The President remarked that the Bombay rate was 89 per cent, and the Hongkong rate 94 per cent. The difference was not very great. Mr. Hooper—I thought it was greater.

A NEW PLAGUE HOSPITAL.

The M.O.H. wrote that the hospital committee had selected No. 63, Third Street as a plague hospital. This was a corner house and well enough lit and ventilated for the purpose. He suggested that the ground floor be used as the men's ward and the first floor as the women's ward, and that the attendants occupy the top floor so that they could cook in the top floor kitchen without danger of infective splashing from above.

Mr. Hooper intimated The idea is a good one, but I think an isolated building should be selected if possible.

Mr. LAU CHAI-PAK I am in favour of establishing such local hospitals. They will help to relieve the mind of the people and induce voluntary reports of plague cases. As a matter of fact, two years ago the Board recommended the establishment of these hospitals. That the inhabitants of the Saiyung gun district, though the majority of them are poor, willingly come forward to raise subscriptions to maintain a hospital for their own sick, evidently shows that they object to the forcible removal of their sick and the undue interference of the Sanitary authorities.

Mr. HAWETT—We should have more of these local hospitals.

The meeting agreed to the proposition on the motion of the President, seconded by Mr. LAU CHAI-PAK.

OVERCROWDING.
The return relative to overcrowding showed that as the result of prosecutions 522 persons had been displaced.

Mr. LAU CHAI-PAK—It would be interesting to know where the persons displaced have shifted.

MARKET-INSPECTORS.
Mr. Hooper referred to the market list appearing in the newspapers, relative to which the Board had appointed a committee to make certain inquiries. He noticed that a change had been made in the list, which previously bore the signature of the Market-Inspector, being now unsigned. He would like to know who was responsible for that.

Dr. Pearce replied that he had directed the Market Inspector not to sign the list sent to the newspapers pending the decision of the Board. The Board had considered the matter, but he had received no authority to rescind those instructions, and so the practice was continued.

Mr. Hooper said he regretted to hear the remarks of the Medical Officer of Health. I can only leave it to you, sir, or the Board, he continued, to place what construction you like on these words in view of the direct resolution of the Board appointing a select committee. What is the use of taking up the time of the select committee to report on the advisability or otherwise of the existing custom being continued, if an officer of the Board can, in the meantime, take it upon himself to give orders to discontinue the practice? I will not characterize such a proceeding.

Mr. BREWIN—Why not?

Mr. Hooper—Because I think, Mr. Registrar General, as an officer of the Government you can find words to characterize it better than I can.

Dr. Pearce—Mr. Hooper is mistaken in one remark. The instructions to the Inspector were given before the Board meeting at which the subject was discussed. I was ready to accept any instructions from the Board at that meeting when I reported what I had done. Mr. Hooper is undoubtedly mistaken if he thinks the instructions to discontinue signing the list were given after the Board had considered the question.

The President—If Mr. Hooper is content we may leave the whole question with the committee.

Mr. Hooper—Under the circumstances I ask you to withdraw my name from the committee, as I am not prepared to give the time to sit on such a question which has already been settled on before I sat on the committee. I therefore hand you back the papers, sir, in connection therewith.

Mr. Hooper rose from his seat and walked to where the President sat and handed him the papers. This closed the incident.

The other business was unimportant.

JAPAN AND THE OPENING OF MANCHURIA.

Reuter's Agency is officially informed that pending the gradual withdrawal of troops from Manchuria the Imperial Japanese Government has so far been unable to permit the entering of foreigners into Manchuria and of foreign vessels into the ports of the province, or the arrival of foreign Consular officers. The evacuation, however, has now made much progress, and the Government has decided to put into execution its declared principle of the "open door" and equal opportunity.

From May 1 next foreigners and foreign vessels will be free to enter Antung and Tientsin, while foreign Consular officers will be permitted to reside at Antung. From June 1st next Consular officers will be allowed to reside at Mukden, and so far as no military inconvenience shall be occasioned, permission will be accorded to foreigners in general to travel in the interior of Manchuria.

The Japanese Government has also decided to open Tientsin to foreign commerce as early as possible. In view, however, of the present condition of Manchuria, it is a matter of practical impossibility for the Imperial Government to accord to foreigners in that country proper protection or hotel facilities, nor will it be held responsible for any injuries that travellers may suffer at the hands of Chinese bandits or other ill-disposed persons, a fact which travellers are expected to bear in mind.

PARIS.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT).

Paris, April 13.

THE POSTMEN'S STRIKE.
France never seems free from trouble; it is not one thing—it is another. La grève des facteurs or postmen's strike is very serious, and is causing so much inconvenience to the public. The strike has arisen through the refusal of the Government to recognise the Postmen's Union, while increased salaries are also demanded by the hardworking servants of the State. Parisians while aware that a great deal of dissatisfaction existed among the postal authorities, were not altogether prepared for the sudden and unexpected strike declared in the first place by the section of postmen who handle the letter-bags, deliver newspapers, and collect letters from the pillar-boxes and other places.

Their action has in consequence thrown the whole of the Paris postal service entirely out of gear; this was soon remedied by the Government immediately calling upon the soldiers to act as postmen. Eight hundred men were actually engaged in sorting the bags at the General Post Office, when a member of the Postmen's Union uttered and shouted, "Comrades, a strike is declared!" As quick as lightning the men threw down the letters which they were handling, while those who had arranged the boxes for the delivery instantly emptied them on the benches, after which they left the place. A few hours later several clerks followed their example and also left on strike. Several meetings have been held already in the Trochu, Vanhall, where all strikers meet in Paris. The treasurer of the Union, supplied those who had no money with the necessary cash, so as to enable them to have their déjeuner and dinners in the hall, and so be on the spot to deal with any proposal coming from the Government.

GENERAL DISORGANISATION.
Whenever a strike breaks out in this country, the soldiers are always the first to be called upon to take the strikers' place—become to be faithfully depended upon. The number of facteurs or postmen and postal officials on strike just now in Paris and the provinces is 7,000, this will soon increase to close upon 10,000, as all the telegraph boys intend to strike too. Everyone connected with the post and telegraph departments have struck; these two services are completely disorganised all over the country, as the soldiers cannot well be expected to do the work as thoroughly as the strikers. The garnisons who travel with the mail trains to the provinces have left their places, and do not intend returning until the Government has granted their demands. It is rather amusing to see the soldiers struggling vainly with the vast pile of thousands of bags of letters and printed matter from all parts of the world which have accumulated, and which every hour grows larger, at the General Post Office. Soldiers have also been employed to clear the bags at railway stations; they make very comical postmen indeed; and though they do not at all relish their new duties. Less the soldier-postmen be molested they are guarded by other comrades, municipal guards, and policemen. So far the strikers have not displayed any violence, but they are not to be depended upon from one hour to another. This may explain why over a bureau de poste or post office in this capital is strongly guarded by six soldiers and a policeman—a curious sight.

AMERICAN STAY IN PARIS.

The American Colony in Paris is an important and numerous one—no one is likely to forget their countryman Mr. John H. Harjes, a veteran banker and a well-known Paris-American, for erecting a statue of Benjamin Franklin which he has presented to the city of Paris. It will be erected in the Rue Franklin, opposite the Trocadéro, not far from where Franklin dwelt when he fulfilled the duties of Minister.

FRENCH AND ENGLISH COLONIES.
It is the intention of the French Government to send a deputation of French coal-miners over to England this summer for the purpose of studying the condition of the mines and miners throughout the United Kingdom. A great many old-standing grievances have been brought to a head by the recent Courrières disaster, especially with regard to the proper inspection of mines, the oversight of lamps and tools when issued, wages, and superannuation funds. Even the concessions which have been made in all these respects by mining directors during the past year or so leave the French miners still in a much worse condition than their English comrades—hence the object of the visit. The situation in the north of France is still most critical. Popular feeling continues to run very high against the officials of the company at Lens. "You are trying to save coal, not men!" is the family cry of the bereaved women.

One would indeed like to think—if that were at all possible—that the popular fury is merely the result of the natural instinct to make scapegoats of the employers; but unhappily it seems impossible not to fear that the officials and the engineers have been guilty of grave dereliction of duty. Now that the Government has instituted a thorough judicial inquiry the company will have to explain why it was that the men were allowed to go down into the mine at all on the fatal day in view of the fact that the officials were quite aware that a fire was already raging fiercely below. More lives too could have been saved, it is alleged; it was hastily assumed, it will be remembered, that every soul in the mine had perished when, as we know for certain there were at least fourteen men alive.

Furthermore, these fourteen were by no means all the survivors up to within a week ago. One gang of rescuers stated positively that they came upon nine bodies not in the least decomposed, which of course established the painful fact that death had only taken place quite recently. In other words many of the poor men must have died by slow torture. That said, a terrible burden of responsibility lies upon the officials of the company and their expert advisers. In coming to the conclusion that the company thought more of its dividends than of its duties, and it felt more concerned for the safety of its coal than of its men, the French public generally, as well as the mining population of the district, were very near the truth.

A STUPID DESCRIPTION.

It will surprise many to hear that cargoes of nameless mummies are shipped to France every week, and kept in the huge vaults of the Louvre to be brought out surreptitiously as wanted to replace that of some historical personage whose bones have frittered away under the action of a northern atmosphere. The "trick" of substituting real for fictitious Pharaohs is carried out in the very early hours of the morning before visitors are admitted. As the mummies gradually fall to pieces, so they are replaced. Though the embalmed remains of primitive kings and queens have done very well in their own tombs, the process in any case was never intended to stand the ordeal of light in a glass case in a modern museum—that of the Louvre in particular.

EASTER WEATHER.

The weather-forecast has been exceptionally kind to us this Easter, as the weather is simply summer-like. Though the present heat-wave which has killed several people already, is not expected to last, Parisians have deserted this sweltering city for the country and sea-side. Railway companies have never known such a record exodus as this Easter. Farmers are bitterly complaining of the drought.

THEATRE AND SCHOOL.
A certain merchant has memorialized Viceroy Shun offering a royalty of $13,000 per annum for the privilege to build a theatre on a portion of the site previously occupied by the Cheung Shan temple (which was confiscated by the Viceroy). The royalty, it is suggested, may be applied for educational purposes. It is reported that the Viceroy has granted the privilege, subject to his approval of the plans and regulations of the theatre.

TOURISTS DILEMMA.

Several well known residents of Hongkong found themselves in an awkward predicament the other day. They were in the city shopping, buying curios. They were on foot. When they thought of returning, they found that their return had been cut off by the flood. No chairs were to be found and the only means offered them to cross the flooded streets was to climb on the backs of coolies. Even this was a delicate task, as two of them weighed over two hundred pounds each. They finally had to wade through to return to the Shamoon.

THE WEATHER.
The rains have ceased at last, and we have been having sunshine for the last three days. Within twelve hours the thermometer has risen from 72 to 88. The Chinese anticipate a hot summer, and according to the sample provided within the last three days they should be right.

SAN FRANCISCO.

The last mail from San Francisco left before the disaster. The following additional details are extracted from a long telegram in the Japan Advertiser:

The scenes during the progress of the fire were indescribable, thousands of panic-stricken people rushing through the streets in a frenzied manner, some bewailing the loss of relatives and friends and others their property. The panic was simply awful, the excitement inclined many were shot down without mercy by the military patrols.

The scene in Chinatown was horrible as the frantic Celestials fought and struggled with each other to escape from the falling and burning houses in the narrow streets, and many of the unfortunate Chinamen were killed in the fighting.

All the homeless, numbering two hundred thousand, made for the Golden Gate Park, where temporary shelters were erected. During the first days of the disaster bread and meat was scarcely obtainable; in this connection all the food stores were promptly seized by the military authorities, who distributed supplies of food from different strongly-guarded centres of the city.

There was at first great danger of human beings and animals that accumulated the streets, or were buried under the ruins of the fallen buildings, but the fear of disease was fortunately averted by the burial of these corpses in the public squares by order of the military authorities, who for this purpose impressed all able-bodied men into their service, and four-foot trenches were dug to receive the bodies.

Communications having been restored, provisions poured into the city from all points of California, thus bringing speedy relief to the starving and homeless in the unfortunate city.

The California Militia, and Cadets from the California University, who were called out by the Governor, aroused considerable indignation among the citizens by firing promiscuously and killing and wounding several worthy and innocent people, but the petition which was sent to the Governor asking him to recall the Militia and Cadets and give the guarding of the city in charge of the Federal troops was denied.

The total loss occasioned by the disaster is estimated at three hundred million dollars, while the losses borne by the insurance companies will amount to two hundred and thirty million.

The Governor ordered a holiday of thirty days in order to permit the banks to arrange their affairs and organize their resources. There have been no failures among the banks and they are generally understood to be in a flourishing condition, while the insurance companies are preparing an adjustment of their accounts.

Today (Sunday, 20th April) the cars are running on the up-town lines, and the lights will be turned on shortly.

Refugees are leaving the city by thousands and the railroads are granting free transportation to adjacent towns.

The new city of San Francisco promises to be the ashes of the old in renewed strength, and many plans of reconstruction have already been mooted and discussed among the more prominent citizens. A city on still grander lines than the old one is advocated, as many steel buildings are being erected externally, it is thought that many new edifices will be constructed of that material.

Governor Pardee has called a special session of the State Legislature to consider measures of relief.

Realising that the Oriental trade of San Francisco has departed for practically many years to come, it is believed that the sale of the Pacific Mail Steamship Line to the Toyo Kisen Kaisha is concluded.

The following late telegrams on the subject of the earthquake are from the Kobe Herald:—The Foreign Department has received the following telegram from Mr. Ueno, Japanese Consul at San Francisco:—The California State Government and the San Francisco Municipality are actively making preparations for the reconstruction of the city. All the banks have decided to resume regular business in the city in a few days. The commercial firms and shops have resumed business in temporary premises. Many capitalists from the Eastern States are flocking to San Francisco with a view to investing money in the reconstruction of the city. It is therefore believed that there will not be much difficulty in bringing about a complete resumption of commercial trade. It is certain that the import of Japanese products will not be affected, as the market for the greater portion of them is in the Eastern States, only a small proportion being taken locally. It is possible, however, that the imports to San Francisco of Japanese tea, mattings, and a few other articles, may be affected. There will be no diminution in the demand for foodstuffs for the use of the Japanese population.

The Foreign Department has also received a telegram from Mr. Uchida, Japanese Consul-General at New York. It runs as follows:—In my opinion, Japanese imports to America will not be influenced by the catastrophe at San Francisco. The losses of imported goods at that city have increased the demand for Japanese silk, tea, and other commodities. There are no indications that transactions in raw silk, mattings, and the other leading Japanese lines will be unfavourably affected. It is believed that the demand for Japanese goods will be greatly increased, in view of the reconstruction of the city.

New York, 27th April.

The San Francisco municipal authorities originally excluded the Chinese from the benefits of the relief measures, and caused bitter resentment among the latter. President Roosevelt, being informed of this fact, transferred the direction of the relief from the municipal authorities to the Red Cross Society on the 28th inst. The act of the San Franciscoans is severely criticised as disgraceful conduct, on the ground that racial prejudices should not be allowed to interfere in the sympathy for universal suffering. Japanese residents in New York are raising a relief fund for San Francisco. The subscriptions have reached $3,000 dollars.—Tokyo Asahi.

LORD KITCHENER'S ENEMIES.
The Times has published an article from a "special" correspondent in India, severely criticising Lord Kitchener's attitude to the native troops in India. The Commander-in-Chief is accused of want of sympathy with the Indian Army, of defective knowledge, and of arbitrary want of consideration for its peculiar characteristics. As a consequence a situation has arisen said to be "fraught with grave danger to the best interests and even the safety of India." Lord Kitchener's attitude towards the native army has created both within and outside its ranks the impression that he holds it in very slight esteem, and that he regards its peculiar customs and traditions with impatience as savagery and obstacles to the homogeneity of an ideal army. The correspondent declares that Lord Kitchener's masterfulness grows with increasing power, and says that the orders which he often hastily issues and as hastily withdraws no longer show the same industry and application to detail or the same devotion to economy which characterised his work in Egypt. It is openly asserted in some of the Indian papers of repute that this article was inspired by highly placed persons who are jealous of Lord Kitchener's despotism to duty. It looks like it.

THURSTON'S LAST NIGHT.

Mr. Howard Thurston's magical performance still draws appreciative audiences to the City Hall, notwithstanding the heat indoors. His season here terminates to-night, so those who have not yet seen his performance should embrace this last opportunity to attend he matinee in the afternoon, or the play in the evening. As the advertisement sold out, the prices of admission have been reduced.

becoming less sanguine than they were about the grant of a Constitution which would give them an immediate and permanent predominance in the Transvaal Legislature. They are accordingly altering their tactics, and, instead of fighting British supremacy directly, are, says the Times, opening a campaign of agitation in the hope of creating division among its supporters.Mr. Churchill's last speech has apparently given rise to an idea that the Transvaal will be upon an unequalled manhood basis, and on that anticipation the Boer leaders are appealing to the less desirable portion of the mining industry and upon capital in general.In focus like Johannesburg, however, prosperous the community may be there is always a certain number of never-die-ables or personally discontented persons ready enough to listen to inflamatory speeches against the natural leaders of the community. It is to these that the appeal is now made, at the cost of glaring inconsistencies which they are presumed to be incapable of detecting.At a Def Vult meeting in Pretoria Mr. Smuts proclaimed a great political struggle, but said that British supremacy would not be the same.
He ought to have said that British supremacy would not be the nominal issue presented by him and his friends. For, whatever the changes in tactics, the object of the Boer leaders remains the same—to undermine British supremacy and to deprive this country of all that it fought a costly war to secure.Mr. Smuts said further, that the real question would not be the issue,
which is saying the same thing in other words.
The issue he and his friends are going to put before the country is to be dressed up in an economical guise. The mine-owners are to be declared the enemies alike of Boer and Briton, the foes even of British supremacy and therefore the proper objects of detestation by all.It is hoped that by the aid of a "Liberal" section in Johannesburg the Boer politicians may obtain a majority in spite even of a Constitution based upon a basis of control. There is a certain ingenuity in the idea, which was probably suggested to Mr. Smuts by what he saw in this country of electing members based upon faith in the power of ignorance and on the whole, too intelligent and too well acquainted with the fundamental conditions of their industry to be readily taken in, and Mr. Smuts is not likely to find many recruits except among the feeling and unemployable population. Nor is it likely, in spite of Mr. Churchill's remarks, that the franchise, even if widened—and it is very wide already—will be lowered sufficiently to include more than a section of the people for whose support Mr. Smuts is angling.He offers a direct bribe to the unemployed by denouncing the Native Labour Association and advocating a return to the old system of touting. That system was that every mine employed touts, to bring in Kaffirs for itself, and these touts, as may well be imagined, were often men who were good for nothing else.As they were always bidding against one another, their methods were at once costly to the mines and demoralizing to the natives.
That bad system was abolished and the Native Labour Association took its place. The association keeps its agents under control, and prevents them from resorting to the unscrupulous methods of competition. The native labourers are apportioned to the different mines according to recognized rules. Apart from his desire to conciliate the class who formerly provided the "touts" it is difficult to find any other object in Mr. Smuts' attack on the Labour Association but that of weakening the mines generally, and so undermining the economic foundation of British supremacy in the Transvaal. The same motive no doubt largely underlies his agitation against Chinese labour.
Perhaps he also hopes to win sympathy in this country, though we rather think he is behind the fair, and his declaration that the mines ought to be run by white labour would seem to confirm this,
for it is not an argument that will appeal to any section of the working class on the Rand. Somewhat inconsistently he at the same time denounces the mine-owners for discountenancing native labour—a charge which can hardly have much success in a country which knows all about the Kaffirs and the exertions necessary to get them to work. But it is possible that, in attempting to reproduce the anti-Chinese agitation which proved so successful in this country, Mr. Smuts may be going a little too far for his own followers. Whatever Boer politicians may say about Chinese labour, Boer farmers will not be in a hurry to put an end to it, because they know that in its absence their supply of Kaffir labour, already short, would become totally inadequate. They are much too shrewd to believe in the possibility of unskilled white labour in the mines, and they have every sympathy with the refusal of the Kaffirs to "Kaffir" work, because they have a strong constitutional objection to doing any such work themselves. Just as the American expects everything to be done for him by a machine, so the Boer expects everything except supervision to be done for him by a native. Upon the whole it would seem that Mr. Smuts has made the common mistake of copying foreign institutions. His repeating in South Africa the kind of argument which has stayed in this country made him familiar with, but our peculiar forms of clap-net may not prove suitable for exportation. Even his prophecy that the mines are about to produce an artificial financial crisis in which the very banks will be closed is not likely to have a profound effect upon colonial opinion.This wild hitting rather suggests that the Boer politicians do not find their prospects quite so rosy as they could wish. Their new plan of campaign may only end in weakening and isolating them, since it does not run upon the lines of the substantial interests of the Boer farmers, and is bound to alienate the moderate people who have been working for conciliation.It is gratifying to note in the neighbouring colony that the more moderate element is showing signs of activity. A political committee has been formed at Bloemfontein to draft constitutional proposals to be laid before the committee of inquiry from this country.How to BE BEAUTIFUL.—Keep your com-

731TRIALS OF THE "KASHIMA."The battleship Kashima, which has just been completed for the Imperial Japanese Government by Sir W. G. Armstrong, Whitworth, and Co. (Limited), at Elswick, began her official trials on April 3 and completed them on April 9.On the first day preliminary progressive runs were made over the Admiralty measured course near the mouth of the Tyne to ascertain the speed corresponding to the varying revolutions, four pairs of runs being made at speeds ranging from 11 knots up to nearly full speed. On April 4 the gun trials at sea took place, three rounds being fired from all the 12in., 10., and smaller guns at angles calculated to place the most severe tests upon the structure of the vessel and the gun mountings. No damage was, however, sustained by any part of the ship beyond the breaking of glass and certain minor fittings of a trivial character.The 24 hours' official trial at four-fifths power was begun at 10.30 a.m. on April 5 and completed at the same hour on April 6. The machinery worked with admirable smoothness and regularity, the mean power developed during the whole period working out at close upon 13,000 h.p., the mean revolutions being 113.6 and the corresponding speed 18 knots. After allowing a day for cleaning boilers, the full power trial of eight hours' duration was begun. Four consecutive rounds with and against the tide were made over the measured course, the mean speed being 19.242 knots, the revolutions being just over 123, and the corresponding i.h.p. 17,210. During the last two hours of the trial the revolutions increased to nearly 125, with a corresponding increase of speed to 19.3 knots. This completed the speed trials, so little whatever occurred throughout their course, the results obtained were most satisfactory, and largely in excess of the requirements stipulated in the contract.
The trials were carried out with the vessel at her full load draft. On Monday, April 9, the firing of torpedoes from the five submerged tubes with the ship under weigh at 15 and 17 knots.The Japanese officers and crew, under Capt.
Iijima, who arrived in the Tyne at the end of the previous week, were on board, and, although the vessel was in charge of the contractors, the Japanese officers did all the stoking during the steam trials, and contributed in no small way to the success of the trials.The water-tube boilers, of which there are 20, arranged in three compartments, are of the latest improved Niclausse type, and these, as well as the triple expansion engines with which the vessel is fitted, have been supplied by Messrs. Humphrys, Tennant, and Co. The following are the main particulars:—Diameter of 14 in. cylinder, 30in.; diameter of 14 in. cylinder, 30in.; diameter of 14 in. cylinder, 30in.; length of stroke, 14 in.; four compound, cooling surface, 18,700 square feet; total heating surface of boilers, 42,000 square feet; fire grate area, 1,218 square feet; boiler pressure, 230lb. per square inch. Otherwise the vessel, with her armament, has been constructed by Messrs. Armstrong.
The machinery will now be opened out for examination, and, when the finishing touches have been put to the ship, she will leave for Japan.The Kashima has a displacement of 16,400 tons, her keel was laid on February 29, 1904, and she was launched on March 22, 1905. Thus her construction and the completion of her trials in this period, or four months less than allowed for by the contract, may be considered a good performance for the construction of a battleship of her size.—Times.AN INDIAN AGRICULTURAL BANK.As an outcome of Sir Arundel Arundel's visit to Madras, we (United India) understand that an Agricultural Bank is soon to be started on the lines of the Egyptian Bank. For some time past this matter has been under the consideration of the Madras Government, who have already addressed a letter on the subject to the Government of India. Our readers will remember that some action was taken in this in Sir Denzil Ibbelton's speech on the Budget debate.
The main object of the Bank would be to relieve agricultural indebtedness in this Presidency, and generally to finance agriculture by enabling ryots to get money on cheap terms.
It is a pleasure to notice that the Government of India have promised to help the scheme on the same condition as the Co-operative which has irreparable harm by laying the foundation of cystitis and other serious diseases. The remedy, pure, irritation of the lower bowel, cough, bronchitis, asthma, and some of the more trying complaints of this kind, it will be found astonishingly efficacious, affording prompt relief where other well-tried remedies have been powerless.

THERAPION No. 2 is a remarkable medicine, especially recommended for the treatment of the blood, scurvy, pimples, spots, blotches, pains and swell-ings of the joints, rheumatism, gout, rheumatoid, and all diseases for which it has been too much a failure to employ mercury, arsenic, etc., to the destruction of sufferers' teeth and ruin of health. This preparation purifies the whole system through the blood, and thoroughly eliminates every poisonous matter from the body.

THERAPION No. 3 is a remarkable medicine, especially recommended for the treatment of the nervous system, hysteria, neurasthenia, and all the distressing consequences of early error, excess, residence in hot, unhealthy climates, etc. It possesses surprising power in restoring strength and vigor to the debilitated.

THERAPION is sold by the primary and secondary Chemists and Druggists, and is a factory of word "THERAPION" as it appears on the Regulation Stamp (in white letters on a red ground) affixed to every package by order of His Majesty's Medical Commission, and without which it is a forgery.

Sold by Principal Chemists. [233]
